Large platforms have been erected on Market street on the sidewalk between Seventh and Eighth streets and Eighth and Ninth. "We must go Over the Top" is the liberty loan signs that have been posted on the platforms. Those desiring to go either north or east on Market street in these blocks must go over this raised platform. It is an idea carried out by the chairman of the advertising committee for the campaign.

Dividing Chattanooga's allotment up into the five days that the solicitors would have to work, it was at first thought that the committee would have to raise $1,300,000 a day to make it, but the chairman says that from all present indications they will do even better than this. It seems that every one has the spirit of buying bonds and wants to do his part.

The Very Stuff of Victory

The materialist has said buying Liberty Bonds signifies nothing.

He looks upon each issue as representing an investment which has no equal today in all the world.

Consequently, he views their purchase as involving no sacrifice nor deserving of credit. As far as his vision lets him see he is right; but unfortunate is he, indeed, who cannot look beyond the simple action and recognize the full power of the motive.

That these bonds are the greatest investment in the world may rightly be laid at the feet of good fortune, because they are the promise - to - pay with interest of the greatest government in the world, backed by the most tremendous resources in the world.

Such, however, is not the great overwhelming and impelling reason that millions of red-white-and-blue men and women now own billions of dollars of Liberty Bonds, and in this Fourth Liberty Loan are subscribing for billions

The motive is: one. It transcends all material considerations and its fabric is the very stuff of victory.

For Liberty Bonds to the great host of American men and women represent work accomplished, thrift acquired, money saved and devoted without stint or limit to that greatest purpose which shall finally achieve victory over organized force inimical to the peace of the world.

So when your dollars are invested in United States Government Bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan, though they are invested in the most wonderful investment in the world, they become more than ordinary dollars because they are then the concrete expression of a hallowed purpose and dedicated to its achievement, the very stuff of victory.
